VOL. CVXIIII.—77. ALEXANDRIA, VIRGINIA, WEDNESDAY, APRIL 2 1913. PRICE, 2 CENTS

WYOMING LEADS SISTER WARSHIPS

Six Members of Cabinet Witness Target Practice at Virinia Capes.

GOOD MARKSMANSHIP.

Canvas Screes, 21 by 22 Feet, Torn Into Tatte by Shots From Dreadnaughts.

On Boar U. S. S. Wyoming, Flagship Atlanc Fleet, Southern Drill Grounds, Virginia, via Wireless to Hampton Roads, April 2.—Uncle Sam's gretest dreadnaught,the Wyoming, wi six members of President Wilon's cabinet on board, led her siste war vessels, the Florida and Nort Dakota into battle practice tody. By turns, the dreadnaughts with machine like precision, lazed away at handkerchief like spts which bobbed up and down on the rolling sea.

Whn the signal "cease firing" was finall flashed from the Wyoming and he target rafts were towed in for nspection, the canvass screens, 21 y 22 feet, were torn into tatters. Definite scores were withheld until more accurate estimate could be ad, but the visiting officials, from Secretary Daniels down, were visibly impressed. Daniels showed his gratification by visiting the turrets and personally congratulating the gun crews.

This was the last day of battle practice. The ships of the fleet left at once for their respective home yards.

Rear Admiral Badger, commanding, assumed the role of instructor—telling the secretary and his guests "what would have happened if the targets had been enemies." Besides the deep interest manifested by the visitors they, apparently awed by the admirals' explanations of the deadly workings of the fighting machines, asked no questions and only expressed the amazement in quiet, subdued, respectful gasps.

Miss Eleanor Wilson,the daughter of the President; Miss Bones, her guest; and the wives of the cabinet officers, were not taken aboard the Wyoming because of that element of danger which always attends the battle practice maneuvers. The Idaho was assigned to them as a "sightseeing ship" and followed the practice closely.

With Secretary Daniels were Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo, Secretary of the Interior Lane, ,Secretary of Labor Wilson, Secretary of Agriculture Houston and Postmaster General Burleson.

Tomorow the official party will inspect the Norfolk navy yard.

Charges Against Superintendent.

Pittsburgh Pa. April 2.—Ethel Fiesher, 17, lying in the West Penn Hospital following her appearance before the grand jury told of her eagernes to confront School Superintendent S. L. Heeter indicted on her accusation.

"He will have to admit the truth of my charge,' she declared "when I face him and recall to him what has happened. No man could face a girl that he put in such a position and deny a thing like that."

Direct Votes for Senators.

Harrisburg, Pa., April 2.—Without a dissenting vote the Senate today passed finally the resolution to ratify the proposed amendment to the federal constitution to provide for the direct election of United States senators. As the house had already passed the resolution this action completes the ratification of the amendment so far as Pennsylvania is concerned.

Pennsylvania is the 35th state to act favorably on this amendemnt.

New York.—Slot machines containing candy have been barred by the court of special sessions because they are a "menace to the morels of childhood."

NEWS OF THE DAY.

Municipal elections in Iowa towns Monday developed a number of surprises. Ottumwa, with 40,000 inhabitants, elected Patrick Lenney, a switchman of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul road, as Mayor.

Edmond Clement, French tenor, sailed from New York on Kronprinzessin Cecile yesterday. He declared that New York was full of dollars and that if he only had a little more time he would stay here and make enough to retire. Clement said he had made $40,000 in a four months' tour of New York, Boston and Chicago.

The Draper Company of Hopedale, Mass., said to be the largest manufacturer of textile machinery in the country, was confronted yesterday by a strike for the first time in its 97 years of existence. Responding to a call by the Industrial Workers of the World, 600 men employed in the foundry quit work to enforce a demand for a 10 per cent wage increase and the abolition of piece work. Mill officials assert that wages paid are higher than in any other place in New England for similar work.

Five thousand union painters, paperhangers and decorators went on strike in Chicago yesterday and as a result the annual decorating of thousands of business buildings and homes will be indefinitely postponed The men demand an increase of 5 cents an hour in pay and the right to inspect specifications on the jobs where they are employed to prevent contractors from "skimping" work.

To enforce a demand for a 10-cent wage increase to 60 cents an hour, 200 members of the Painters' Union of Kansas City struck yesterday.

Picking up what she believed to be an unloaded revolver, Miss Beulah Benton, 18 years old, of Baltimore, jokingly pointed it at Frederick Forehaber, 21 years old, her sweetheart, and pulled the trigger. The revolver was loaded and Forehaber was shot in the right lung. He is now at the Maryland General Hospital in a serious condition.

The south levee at Shawneetown, Ind., was blown out with dynamite yesterday afternoon. The water is within four inches of the north levee. The property loss is placed at $100,000. No lives were lost. The destruction o fthe levee was necessary to reduce the pressure of the water and save lives at Cairo and other river points.

Said to be suffering from incurable disease, the Princess Colonna, who occupied a suite of rooms on the same floor in the Grand Hotel in Rome that the Morgan party is located, made a determined attempt to end her life by stabbing herself in the breast with a stilletto. The Princess, who is well-known in society, is now slowely recovering, but is being closely watched, as a second attempt to end her life is strongly feared.

Mourners at the funeral of the three-year-old son of Ambrose Eisenhour were thrown into great confusion at York, Pa., yesterday when the horse attached to the hearse ran away, spilling the casket into the road and injuring the undertaker, Charles Ellicker, and his young son, Robert. The undertaker was driving the hearse and, to prevent it from striking the minister's buggy when the horse ran away, he pulled the horses aside and it crashed into a fence The undertaker and his son were hurled some distance, both sustaining injuries about the head which rendered them unconscious. It was some time before the mourners were quieted and the body replaced in the casket and another team secured to complete the journey to the church.

While the persistent report that J. Pierpont Morgan's death was directly due to cancer of the stomach was being widely discussed in Rome, the startling rumor was bruited about that the body of the New York financier had been shipped to Naples on a special train last night after being secretly removed from the Grand Hotel Neither the hotel management nor railroad officials would confirm nor deny this rumor. The body, after it had been embalmed and dressed, was closed in a walnut coffin, med with white brocade. This was then placed in a leaden casket and finally in a third case of heavy walnut with gold and silver fittings.

FUNERAL OF LATE KING GEORGE I.

Impressive Rites and Ceremonies in Cathedral at Athens Today.

SORROWING ROYALTY.

Scenes in Orthodox Greek Church in Baltimore, Where Solemn Memorial Services Were Held.

Athens, April 2.— With all the impressive rites and ceremonies of the Greek Church, the state funeral of the late King George I. of Greece, assassinated at Salonika, the city which he captured at the head of his victorious army, began at 10:30 a.m., (Athens time) today in the cathedral of Athens.

A private funeral service attended only by the royal family, was held late at the Mausolemu.

The scene in the vast cathedral where the body of the Monarch had lain in state since last Friday, was a brilliant one despite the solemity of the occasion. King Constantine I and members of the late king's family were greatly affected and wept unrestrainedly, while audible sobs and groans came from many others.

The metropolitant of Athens and all of the Greek Bishops officiated in the service, clad in their full vestments. In the seats reserved for the family were King Constantine, Queen Sophia; Dowager Queen Olga, the widow; Princess Marie, wife of the Grand Duke George Michaelovitch, of Russia, and the younger children of King Constantine, Crown Prince George, and Princess Alexander, Nicholas, George, Andrea and Christoforo, sons of the dead king acted as pall bearers.

Baltimore, Md., April 2.—In the presence of the Greek minster to the United States, with all of the members of the embassy in full court dress, solemn memorial services for the late King George I. of Greece were held in the Orthodox Greek church in this city today. The ceremonial rites for the dead monarch were observed in conformity with these which have traditionally marked the burial of kings and emperors of the Eastern Roman empire, the Russian Empire and the Balkan monarchies.

Similar gatherings of loyal Greek subjects were held today in all the Greek communities throughout the United States, at the request of the embassy and the church.

LEVEES AT CAIRO ARE STILL INTACT

People Work Heroically and Frantically to Strengthen Dykes.

LAST NIGHTS F I R E.

Practically All Women and Children Compelled to Leave City During Last Night.

Cairo, Ill., April 2.—At 9 a. m., today the levees guarding Cairo were stil lintact. Water was coming over over the summit in places, however, and the militia and the volunteers and hired laborers were working frantically to reinforce the endangered dikes.

Water today continued to flow through the gap in the Bg Four levees into the drainage district back of Cairo and in two days the lowlands probably will be covered with water from ten to twenty feet deep.

Fire last night attacked the flooded district around Mound City, Ill., while several blazes broke out in the seven thousand-acres of the flooded drainage district.

The guage stood at 54.2 this morning, the highest in the historf of Cairo. The seepage from the levee is assuming alarming proportions and while the levees are holding, the the engineers fear that the seepage is weakening them and that a collapse is probable.

Practically all of the women and children left the city during the night.

Levee engineer A. J. Wheeler of the southeast Missouri district has sent out warning to all cities in that corner of the state, predicting the greatest flood since 1815 and warning those endangered to move to higher grounds.

SCUTARI SAID TO BE BURNING TODAY

Montenegrins Capture 3 of The Tarabosh Forts of City.

GERMANY SENDS SHIP

Balkan Alliance Backing King Nicholas of Greece in His Stand Against European Powers.

Cetinje, April 2.—Scutari today was in flames, according to a report made public by the War Office. It was asserted by the Montenegrins that they had captured three of the Tarabosh forts defending the city and that the fall of the remaining two was but a matter of a few hours.

London, April 2.—The Montenegrin plot thickened today, according to news agency dispatches received here. It was said that the German cruiser Brostau has been dispatched from Kiel to join the International fleet now maneuvering off the Montenegrin coast. Austria-Hungarian vessels have been there all the week accompanied by British and Italian ships.

A dispatch from Athens said that 40,000 Greek troops had been sent by transport to Durazzo from where they would march to aid the Montenegrins in the siege of Scutari. This movement is interpreted to mean that the Balkan alliance is backing King Nicholas in his stand against the powers.

Brindish, April 2.—Strictest secrecy attended the departure from here today of the French Duc de Montpensier who yesterday was proclaimed king of Albania by the provisional government. In his private yacht, Mekong, the new king started for Corfu, in Greece but the reason of his going was not learned.

London, April 2.—Two British warships now are on their way to the Adriatic to join the international blockade of the Montenegrin coast, according to an announcement made today in the House of Commons by Under Secretary Acland, of the Admiralty.

The naval demonstration by the Great Powers to express their disapproval of Montenegro's action in regard to Scutari, began today at Antivari, the port of Cettinje. Austria-Hungary, on her own account, blockaded Montenegro last week, but the powers did not join at once.

Ejected From Cafes.

New York, April 2.—Acting under the mayor's orders a squad of police entered the Garden Restaurant on upper Broadway just before one one o'clock this morning to close the lively cabarat emporium and drive the patrons out at the appointed hour. The bluecoats struck a snag. With hoots and yells the hundreds of men and women, packed into the place, refused to leave their tables until they had finished the food and drink set before them.

"You have no right to put me out until I have eaten what I have paid for!" shouted one man

Police Inspector Dwyer ordered two of his men to eject all the men. The process aroused the combative instincts of scores of Garden patrons an dthe small squad of police found themselves engaged in a rear battle.

Dwyer sent in a cell for the reserves and twenty policemen came to the rescue. In a few minutes the police had clubed the restaurant patrons into submission and forced them out on the sidewalk, refusing to let them pause long enough to get their hats and coats from the check room.

NEWS OF THE OLD DOMINION.

CONDUCTOR'S LEG CRUSHED.

H. Allen, of Chesapeake And Ohio, Probably Fatally Injured.

Covington, Va., April 2.—Captain H. Allen, age sixty years old, a well known Chesapeake and Ohio conductor of this place, was badly crushed today night at Hinton, W. Va., by an engine backing into his caboose and crashing it to splinters. Mr. Allen was just about to step out on his run, when an engine ran accidentally into his caboose by a hostler, with the above result. Mr. Allen had one of his legs crushed off, and the other one so badly injured that amputation was necessary. He was badly injured otherwise, and his recovery is not considered possible. He was one of the oldest conductors on the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway, and for a number of years was passenger conductor on the Hot Springs branch.

MARION'S PLANT DESTROYED.

Revenue Officers Make Raid in Carroll County.

Pulaski Va., April 2.—Deputy Collector J. P. Hurt passed through Pulaski, returning from Carroll county, where he has been ferreting out illicit distilling operations. He came upon a plant of Big Marion, who was implicated with the Allens in the Hillsville tragedy, but was released for insufficient evidence to convict, in full operations. Marion and a son about fourteen years of age saw the approaching officers and fled. The officers pursued them for half a mile, and shot after the fleeing men some twenty-five times without effect, and they were finally lost in the mountain laurels. The distillery was located about half and from Marion's home and about 200 yards from his mother-in-law's house, in a strip of woods without any building. Included in the capture were an eighty gallon copper still, copper cap, copper worm, seven fermenters, fifty gallons of low wines, two gallons of whisky, 1,500 gallons of beer, together with a complete outfit. The plant was destroyed.

SWINDLED COLORED WOMAN.

Two Flashily Dressed Men Work Envelope Gag.

Richmond, Va., April 2. — Two sharpers swindled Emma Chambers, colored, out of $215.00 in the main corridor of the postoffice late Monday. The money was the proceeds of her insurance policy, and was a surprise to her.

Though the woman was robbed by means of an ancient trick, it was all new to her, and after it had been explained she still had doubts as to how it was worked. The swindlers were both young, flashily dressed colored men.

It is thought by the police that the men first singled out the Chambers woman as a likely victim when they saw her purchasing a ticket for her niece at the Southern Railway station about 3:30 o'clock. In paying for her ticket she exposed to view the bulky roll of bank notes in her pocketbook. The sharpers are supposed to have been lounging near the ticket window.

Leaving the station the woman started for a bank near the postoffice, intending to deposit the money. She found the bank closed for the day. Before starting for home she entered the postoffice to buy stamps. She had been in the building but a moment when the two men approached her.

"Got change for a $200 bill?" one of them asked pleasantly.

The woman did not hesitate before replying. The fact that she had $215 in her pocketbook was fresh on her mind. She answered in the affirmative and took out her money.

One of the men drew from his pocket what appeared to be a bank not of a large denomination. He placed it in an envelope and sealed the lap. The man explained as he did so there would be no possibility of the bill getting lost.

The woman handed the man $215, forgetting at the time that he roll contained more than the $200 he had asked for. He handed her an envelope, muttered profuse thanks and disappeared with his companion.

When the woman opened the envelope at her home this morning to see what a $200 bill looked like she found that the envelope contained nothing but a worthless piece of brown paper.

MISSING MAN FOUND DEAD.

George Stump Was Assaulted on Easter Sunday.

Roanoke, Va. April 2.—A telephone message from Rocky Mount says that the body of George Stump was found on Sunday, a short distance from his home in the Calloway neighborhood, ateer he had been missing for a week. His head was terribly bruised.

On Easter Sunday he had trouble with several men and was badly beaten. He staggered off after being struck over the head with a gun. It is believed his death resulted either from the effects of his injuries or from exposure.

Comonwealth's Attorney Herbert N. Dillard, wit hDeputy Sheriff Furrow, went to the scene. After an investigation, warrants were sworn out for George Stump, Jr., and Charles Guilliams, two young men in the neighborhood. Stump is a near relative of the dead man.

Both were arrested and placed in jail.

EGGLESTON ACCEPTS.

Sends Formal Note to V. P. I. Board And Will be Ready July 1.

Richmon, April 2.—Formal acceptance of the presidency of the Virginia Polytechnic Institute was sent yesterday by Joseph D. Eggleston to J. Thompson Brown, rector of the board of visitors. The communication was brief and formal, acknowledging receipt o fthe notice of election, expressing thanks for the honor paid him, and indicating that he will be ready to assume the duties of the office on July 1, the date on which the resignation of Dr. Paul B. Barringer, the retiring president, becomes effective.

Mr. Eggleston is still engaged in his work in charge of field operations among rural schools for the United States Bureau of Education, having received a temporary appointment lasting until July 1. In his "civil service examination" with the Federal position, he was merely asked to give his record in educational work.

COMPANY MUSTERED OUT.

Harrisonburg Command is Ordered to be Disbanded.

Richmond April 2.—An order was issued yesterday by Governor Mann directing that Company H, Second Virginia Infantry, at Harrisonburg, be disbanded. Present members of what is left of this company will be mustered out of the service of the Virginia Volunteers.

Captain C. G. Mason, of Luray, quartermaster of the Second Regiment, is ordered to go to Harrisonburg, check up the military property take possession of it and ship it to the Adjutant-General in Richmond.

The disbandment of the Harrisonburg company was recommended last autumn by Inspector-General Jo Lane Stern, who found that the membership had dropped to the lowest ebb, that there was but little military spirit and that the command was not in shape for active service. At that time some citizens of Harrisonburg asked for postponement of action, and expressed the opinion that the company could be reorganized and put on its feet again.

JUMPED OVER BOARD.

Seamen Alleges he Was Shanghaied. Will be Investigated.

Hampton, Va., April 2.—Charles Swenson, a seaman on the English steamer Pass, of the Bahama, jumped from the deck of his ship into Hampton Roads last night, and was rescued an hour later by the United States tender Yankton, which was coming into Old Point for the mail of the ships of the Atlantic Fleet.

Swenson said he had been shanghaied in Newport News with four sailors, and that he decided to jump overboard and attempt to swim ashore, rather than go with the steamer to San Domingo. The current was too swift for him, and after struggling around in the water he was finally picked up by the Yankton, which heard his cries for help. Swenson had his clothes tied to his back.

Captain Lee of the Pass of the Balhama applied to the Yankton commander for Swenson, but the navy officer refused to give the seaman up. Lee said that Swenson's story was pure fiction as the five sailors were shipped after being sworn before the British consul.

The story of Swenson will be investigated by the United States authorities.

Why Salves Can't Cure Eczema

Since the old-fashioned theory of curing eczema through the blood has been given up by scientists, many different salves have been tried for skin diseases. But it has been found that these salves only clog the pores and cannot penetrate to the inner skin below the epidermis where the eczema germs are lodged.

This—the quality of penetrating—probably explains the tremendous success of the well known liquid eczema remedy, oil of wintergreen, thymol, glycerine, etc., as compounded in D.D.D. Prescription.

We have sold other remedies for skin troubles but none that we can recommend as highly as this for we know that D.D.D. stops the itch at once. We can give you a trial size bottle for 25 cents that will be enough to prove it.

Of course all other druggists have D.D.D. Prescription—go to them if you can't come to us—but don't accept some big profit substitute.

But if you come to our store, we are so certain of what D.D.D. will do for you that we offer you a full size bottle on this guarantee—If you do not find that it takes away the itch AT ONCE, it costs you not a cent.

CONGRESS SURE TO LOWER TARIFF.

Only a few days elapse between now and Monday when Congress will meet in special session for the purpose of considering the tariff question. President Wilson will send a short message to that body in which he will briefly outline the promises the Democratic party has made the people in reference to a lower tariff.

No one can tell how much of a revision will take place nor just how it will be accomplished. But there will be a substantial revision downward, make no mistake about that. It will be a radical revision in the opinion of the Republican protectionists, a mild revision in the opinion of the tariff for revenue men and a slight reduction as viewed by free traders. But there will be a revision of the tariff, even if it is not satisfactory to the men who od the revising.

There is yet to be decided the question as to whether there will be one bill or a dozen and it may take a Democratic caucus to determine this important matter. That it is highly important is shown by the division over the question and the wide differences of opinion among leaders of the party.

If passed schedule by schedule the tariff ceases to be a "log rolling" proposition. In the form adopted by the house in the last Congress the Democrats can pass bills such as they passed at that time, but it may be difficult to avoid inequalities.

Some bills may fail, and the result will be high duties in some schedules and low duties in others. Men who want to protect certain industries and products in their states and districts would be almost helpless under the schedule by schedule plan. But if there is one general bill those who are seeking protection or who hope to prevent serious cuts in different schedules may be able to form combinations and prevent what they think will be harmful revision.

Advocates of real reduction will strive for action schedule by schedule.

This becomes more important when the tariff is considered in the Senate, where the Democratic margin is so narrow that a very few senators could prevent the passage of the bill unless the rates in which they are particularly interested were fixed to suit them.

But whatever method is used by both house and senate it is agreed by the Democrats that the tariff must be considerably lowered.

GO FROM HOME TO GET NEWS.

According to one of the Washington papers, all arrangements for sending out the dog cart in this city were made and the driver perched upon the vehicle when it occurred to him and the "netters" that no place to confine the curs had been prepared.

A Baltimore paper tells a still more remarkable story. It says:

There was consternation yesterday when the town's brand new dog wagon, filled with animals of high and low degree, drove up to the City Hall. It suddenly dawned on the city authorities that while the city council had provided generously for the anti-dog campaign, buying nice new nets and uniforms for the dog-catchers, and an elaborate perambulating cage, it had made no provisions for the installation of a dog pound.

"You can't put them in here," yelled the custodian of the City Hall." "Take 'em down to the jail and lock them up in cells."

Several of the more vicious animals were put in cells. The others were turned loose.

The dog cart has not made its appearance on the streets yet, although preparations for sending out the vehicle are now in progress. As has been stated in the Gazette, a receptacle for ownerless and unlicensed dogs will be constructed on the premises of the city gas works.

Woman Commits Suicide.

Mrs. Julia McFarlane Gerhart, divorced wife of Charles B. Gerhart, brother of Frank Gerhart, Progressive candidate for mayor of St. Louis, died yesterday afternoon as the result of taking poison with suicidal intent at the home of Mrs. Adeline Cox, in St. Louis. Later Mrs. Cox announced that after her divorce Mrs. Gerhart had married a negro.

Mrs. Gerhart, as she was known, took the poison two days ago. She had been brooding because her negro husband had followed her from St. Paul and insisted on seeing her.

Mrs. Gerhart was divorced last November, and fifteen days later, according to Mrs. Cox, she married a negro, L. W. Kellogg of St. Paul. Kellogg formerly was a butler in the Gerhart home.

Mrs. Gerhart was an ardent horsewoman and huntress. She was granted alimony of $2,100 a year.

Mrs. Cox said that soon after Mrs. Gerhart came to her boarding house Kellogg began to call on her. Mrs. Cox objected but Mrs. Gerhart answered that the negro was her butler and came to see her on business.

A month ago when the negro called at the house Mrs. Cox refused to admit him. Thereupon, she said he showed a marriage certificate and said to Mrs. Cox: "That woman is my wife, and I have a right to see her."

Mrs. Cox said she took him to Mrs. Gerhart and asked if she was his wife. Mrs. Gerhart, according to Mrs. Cox did not answer. Thereafter Mrs. Cox would not allow the negro in the house.

Mrs. Gerhart was the niece of the late Chief Justice George B. McFarlane, of the Missouri Supreme Court.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

Fire which broke out in the flood district at Parkersburg, W. Va., resulted in a loss of $120,000. For a time the whole city was threatened. The water supply was turned on at noon to help check the fire.

Lieut. Perlovski, of the Russian army, committed suicide at Warsaw on Sunday by deliberately shutting off themotor of an aeroplane in which he was flying and dropping from a height of 600 feet to the ground. The tragedy was believed to have been an accident until yesterday, when a letter, written just before the fatal flight, was opened. In it Lieut. Perlovski expressed his intention of committing suicide in midair, and gave as a reason that he had been the victim of many intrigues.

Miss Esther Derry, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. R. W. Derry, of Bemis, Tenn., is in the hospital at that town suffering from gunshot wounds alleged to have been inflicted in a duel Monday night with R. C. McCommon, for whom the officers are now searching. Miss Derry says the shooting followed charges made by her to McCommon involving his son. Members of the McCommon household say Miss Derry fired five shots at the elder McCommon, who replied with a shotgun. McCommon then fled. Young McCommon has been arrested.

SMILES.

By The Second Ward Bard.

OLD SMUDGE IS DEAD.

Old Smudge is dead, the papers say
He left a million bones,
Old Smudge has lived and had his day,
Now for his sins atones.

Old Smudge has gone, and who will sigh
Because the old man's dead?
And who will wring his hands and cry,
And who will bow his head?

Old Smudge has gone and left behind
A million shining rocks,
Let's see what else the heirs will find
Left by this grim old fox.

They'll look in vain to find a man
Who e'er could call him friend,
Or feel that in the time of need
He could on him depend.

They'll never find a single soul
Who loved him for himself,
They'll find folks envied him his roll
And coveted his wealth.

They'll find a score of those who curse
Him for his wily schemes,
That left them with an emptied purse
And badly shattered dreams.

The papers say Old Smudge is dead
In tears we shall not drown,
The gold for which he fought and bled
Won't win for him a crown.

If the Old Dominion Boat Club were to put a crew on the rive would Jack Monroe?

If somebody fell in Hunting Creek would Sam Wade in and get hin out?

If they were served some of Mrs Newlywed's biscuits, could Carro Pierce them, or Magruder Den them?

We presume the usual number o victims are suffering from the trick played on them yesterday, by th idiots who delight in celebrating Al Fool's Day. The city should offe a reward for the capture and conviction to the clever person who places the brick under the innocent-looking hat for the unsuspicious to kick.

Bill just smiles from ear to ear,
Ne'er complains or sheds a tear,
He is loaded up with cheer,
That's the way to thrive.

Grief and woe he does not fear,
His heart is light as foam on beer,
Just the same from year to year,
Bill's glad that he's alive.

THE DOG QUESTION.

Clifton Station, Va. April 1, 1913
Editor Gazette:

Every consideration of justice business policy and the public health demands strict and constant regulation of the dog nuisance.

Spasmodic eflorts like the present in Alexandria after exercising deaths from the much dreaded rabies will not suffice.

The facts are that old and well known dog laws in Virginia are wilfully and deliberately ignored. Thousands of dogs which country officials are under penalty to kill and personally liable for not doing so, in July of each year run delinquently indefinitly. Two years ago the statement that Fairfax county officials acknowledged and approved 1531 delinquent dogs was printed over my signature, which has not been and cannot be denied. I had a flock of 150 sheep reduced to 12 or 15, some of them imported Southdowns. Our little girl was bitten by a mad dog necessitating expensive treatment and untold agony. When we ran down this mad dog and other dogs bitten by him they must be slaughtered at our personal risk and expense. Warrants were sworn out by myself and others but our official proved too craven to execute.

The man who kept this mad dog which I followed up myself, and shipped to the Bureau of Animal Industry in Washington, D. C., claimed he was not responsible as the collector of revenue had not listed it. For the benefit of others similarly situated if such happens again I propose to swear out criminal indictments against officials responsible, according to statute.

Dogs are the only animals in Virginia showing an increase in numbers. By and by we will have to eat them.

Her Patriotism

By ELIZABETH WEED

Louise Archer was a very high strung girl. Excitement was to her a necessity, and often she mistook her excitable nature for noble impulses. When the Spanish-American war broke out she was nineteen years old and had been every day reading of the tyranny of General Weyler and the sufferings of the Cubans.

Louise had a lover, Gus Saunders, a plodding, methodical chap, entirely different from her. Since she could not go and fight the dons herself she determined that Saunders should go. Impelled by the rattling of drums and the "gathering of the clans," she went over to where he was sawing wood and said to him:

"Why, Gus, I'm surprised at you! Everybody but you is rallying round the flag, while you are stooping over a log with a bucksaw. Aren't you going to enlist?"

"Enlist? What for?"

"Why, to right the Cubans' wrongs."

"I don't see why I should right their wrongs."

"Haven't you any patriotism?"

"I don't see any occasion for patriotism."

"I do. Our young men are flocking to the standard by thousands, while you are content to bend your back sawing wood. Oh, that I should have accepted a"—

The young man was deeply in love. The expression on his face changed to one of such pain that Louise was deterred from speaking the word that was on her tongue. Throwing down his saw, he said:

"Louise, I love you so well that I will try my best to live up to your standard. After all, it is no more the duty of others than mine to respond to the call for volunteers. I shall enlist at once."

"Spoken like a man!" was the enthusiastic response, and she impulsively threw her arms about his neck. "I am sure you will return a hero."

"A what?" asked Gus.

"A hero. Some of Napoleon's marshals rose from the ranks, and maybe you will."

"Just so—that is, if I have time."

"Time? What do you mean by that?"

"Why, how long do you think it would take a big cat to kill a very little mouse?"

"Oh, you're always looking on the wrong side of things. It's going to be a great war. Goodby. When you return with a general's shoulder straps just think how proud I'll be of you."

"You'll be true to me?"

"True to my soldier lover! Why, yes!"

A volley of kisses and he was gone.

A few months later a troopship unloaded a cargo of skin and bone on Montauk Point. Most of them were transferred to hospitals, the balance put in camps. One who had suffered from every disease known in Cuba was retained in hospital as long as there was a hospital at the point, then transferred to a more permanent home for the sick. He lingered between life and death till spring, when his doctors concluded that he would have a better chance for recovery if he could get a change. He was eager to go, assuring them that a sweetheart was waiting for him and his separation from her was keeping him back. Being discharged, he sought the location of his enlistment and, tottering along the road, met one who had known him as a hearty man, but who failed to recognize him.

"Is Louise Archer alive and well?" asked the ex-soldier.

"Oh, yes, she's alive and well, only her name isn't Archer any more; it's Gugliamento."

"Wh-a-a-t?" faltered the stranger aghast.

"Gugliamento, a dago fruit man, came along here just after you fellers went away selling California grapes for Malagas and such like. He had big black eyes and long black mustache and curly hair. He sold Louise some fruit and got to talking with her. He told her that the Cubans were all niggers, while the Spaniards were brave men who had owned the island ever since Columbus discovered it 400 years ago. She asked him to come in and tell her about it.

"Well, the feller twisted her right around. She had been one of the most patriotic girls of these parts; sent a lover down to fight these same dagos—more fool he. And after the fruit man went away she began to howl about the iniquity of the Spanish war. The feller kept comin' round every few weeks, and about a month ago she walked off with him."

The stranger stood looking at his informant out of his hollow eyes with pain and horror.

"Louise married a Spaniard!" he gasped. "Why, she"—

"Oh, yes, she was full of fight on the other side when the thing commenced. But, stranger, you seem awfully taken back at hearing about her. If you have any interest in her you needn't worry about the Spaniard. She came back a week ago without him. They say he dug out and left her to shift for herself."

The veteran turned and staggered away in the direction from whence he came.

But this is not all of the story. A day came when Signora Gugliamento secured a divorce from the fruit seller and, repentant, married the man she had sent to the war. If she was fickle, she paid for her fault by a lifetime of devotion to her soldier husband.

Police And Strikers Fight.

Hopedale, Mass., April 2.—A pitched battle, in which strikers and police wielded clubs savagely and engaged in hand-to-hand conflict followed the attempt of nearly six hundred striking employes of the Draper Textile Machinery Mills to march to the mills from their homes in Milford today. The struggling parade, headed by a cornet player an da man carrying a rudely fashioned cross of sticks, had almost reached the mills when over 200 policemen, mustered from surroundings towns, and sate detectives attacked the marchers with baseball bats, knocking some of them down. The police finally drove the strikers back toward Milford. Employes were escorted by policemen from Milford to the mills this morning.

New Trial Refused.

Philadelphia, April, 2.—Former Director of Public Safety Henry Clay and Contractors John R. Wiggins and Willard H. Walls were today refused a new trial in Quarter-Sessions Court and sentenced to not less than eighteen months or more than two years each in the penitentiary. They were also ordered to pay a fine of $500 each. The men were convicted several months ago of conspiracy to defraud the city in connection with the erection of city fire and bath houses.

The defendants furnished $10,000 bail each pending an appeal.

A suit in equity has been filed by the city against Clay, Wiggins and Walls to secure the return of $100,000 said to have been part of the amount the contracting firm took from the city by conspiracy.

A Place For All Things.

Willoughby was nervously watching the time, and as the minutes passed and it became evident that the train could not by any possibility reach its destination on time he turned viciously to the porter and began angrily:

"Of all the dad binged old heaps of junk this side of the earthquake belt this railroad of yours is without any exception the"—

"Excuse me, boss," said the porter, with a courteous wave of his whiskbroom toward the rear end of the train, "but dere's an observation cyar on de end ob diss yere train, suh, an' if Ah might take de libbity ob makin' a suggestion, suh, you might go back dere, suh, an' make de observations now risin' in yo' midst. De presence ob ladies on diss yere cyar, suh, is mah excuse fo' makin' de suggestion."

Whereupon Willoughby retired to the rear platform and strewed his observations along the track with such effect that one of the ties was seen to be smoking long after the train had passed it.—Harper's.

Female Applicant.

New York, April 2.—Miss Alberta Hill active feminine assistant in Wilson's headquarters in New York during the national campaign, today appealed to the President to eb made record clerk at the White House. The application, it is understood, will be considered despite objections to women employes in the executive offices of the White House

Climate Failed; Medicine Effective

It has been absolutely shown that rest, fresh air and good food do help many persons suffering from Tuberculosis. But it must be admitted that the disease is seldom more than "arrested." Something more is needed.

Eckman's Alterative is a medicine made for the treatment of Tuberculosis. It has conquered this disease again and again. Often these benefits have been effected where the surroundings were not ideal—yet recoveries resulted. Now we argue that Eckman's Alterative should be used in every case of Tuberculosis, in addition to good, nourishing food and fresh air, which we all need. A remarkable case follows:

Weldon, Ill.

"Gentlemen: Through Eckman's Alterative I have been saved from a premature grave. On December 14, 1904, I was taken with Typhoid Pneumonia. My lungs became very much affected; my sputum was examined and Tuberculosis Bacilli were found. On February 21, 1905, I was advised to go to Fort Worth, Texas. While there an abscess in my right lung broke and discharged. I grew worse, and became very much emaciated. My physician informed me that I must go to Colorado as quickly as possible. I left Texas, June 21 and arrived in Canon City, June 3 very feeble. After being there two weeks, my physician informed me that my case was hopeless. Three weeks later I returned home, weighing 103 pounds, the doctor having given me no assurance of reaching there alive.

"On July 14, 1905, I began taking Eckman's wonderful remedy for Consumption. Today I weigh 158 pounds. I am stout and well and can do any kind of work about my grain elevator. I have not an ache nor pain in my lungs, eat well, sleep well, and never felt better."

(Sworn affidavit) ARTHUR WEBB.

Eckman's Alterative is effective in Bronchitis, Asthma, Hay Fever, Throat and Lung Troubles, and in upbuilding the system. Does not contain poisons, opiates or habit-forming drugs. Ask for booklet telling of recoveries, and write to Eckman Laboratory, Philadelphia, Pa., for more evidence. For sale by all leading druggists

TRUSTEE'S SALE OF RESIDUE.

Trustee's sale of the residue of the "Belvoir" or "White House' 'tract of land located in Mt. Vernon Magisterial District, Fairfax County, Va., containing approximately 1100 acres with improvements.

By virtue of the authority vested in us by the will of Philip Otterback, deceased, and under decree of the Circuit Court of Fairfax county, Va., in the suit of Otterback vs. Bohrer, at its March term, 1913, the undersigned trustees will offer for sale at public auction, in front of the Royal Street entrance to the Market House in Alexandria, Virginia, at the above described property.

This tract, the old home of Lord Fairfax and separated from George Washington's home at Mt. Vernon, by Dogue Creek, originally consisted of approximateely twenty-seven hundred (2,700)acres,of which 1,500 acres has been taken by the United States Government for a school of Equitation or Horsemanship. The balance between ten and twelve hundred acres consists of valuable farming lands and about eight hundred (800) acres of valuable timber. It has a large deep water frontage on the Potomac river as well as a large frontage on Dogue Creek, with valuable fishing shores. The property is improved by the old mansion house, familiarly known for many years as the "White House," a club house, barns, stables, out-buildings and tenant houses. It is situated on the county road between Mt. Vernon and Accotink and is about four miles by road from Mt. Vernon. This property is one of the most historic in the section and would make a very desirable country estate because of its location and the opportunities afforded for fishing and shooting.

VALUABLE ADVICE.

Alexandria Citizens Should Profit by The Following Statement.

Doan's Kidney Pills were used by this Alexandria resident.

Their merit was shown—the story told.

Now comes further evidence.

The testimony is confirmed.

The remedy was tested—the results lasted.

Could Alexandria residents demand stronger proof?

It's Alexandria testimony. It can be investigated.

Miss Harriett Johnson, 207 Queen street, Alexandria, Va., says: "I have had no symptoms of kidney complaint during the past four years, since Doan's Kidney Pills cured me. I willingly repeat the testimonial I gave at the time my cure was made. For two years I had a lot of trouble with my back. As long as I kept still I got along alright, but as soon as I began to work I was bothered terribly by backache. A neighbor gave me a box of Doan's Kidney Pills, procured from Leadbeater & Co.,'s drug store and this remedy cured me. I would advise any kidney sufferer to use Doan's Kidney Pills."

Brief Funeral Services.

Rome, April 2.—Owing to French legal formalities attending the removal of bodies from the ports of that country, plans for a special train to catch the liner Olympic at Cherbourg, with the body of J. P. Morgan were abandoned and Herbert L. Satterlee his son-in-law announced that Morgan's body probably would be taken to New York aboard the steamship Isle of France, leaving Havre on Saturday. If that plan is carried out, the party will leave Rome at 6 o'clock this evening.

Among those at the service were Mr. and Mrs. Satterlee, Miss Helen Morgan Hamilton, Mrs. Lucy Lee. and daughter, and Mrs. Hurburt, cousins of Morgan; Mrs. Fitzsimmons; Miss Fitzsimmons; Samuel Abbott; Mrs. Abbot, Ambasador O'Brien Mrs. O'Brien, Mrs. Nelson, wife of the rector; Professor Jesse Carter, of the American Art Academy; Mrs. Carter; Post Wheeler, secretary of the American Embassy and Mrs. Wheeler.

New York's First Express Wagon.

"It was in 1841." said the oldest inhabitant, "that I was a witness to that wonderful event, the appearance on Broadway of the first express wagon. It was a one horse affair with a very white canvas cover on which was painted conspicuously in very black letters the word 'Express.' The wagon made its way up and down the thoroughfare, to the wonder of beholders, who soon became curious to learn what it meant. Men came out of their stores and women leaned out of the windows to look at this ridiculous affair. People of that time were considered either lazy or proud who objected to carry home the purchases they made. A tale went the rounds that a woman customer of A. T. Stewart, the dry goods merchant, had required him to send home to her some insignificant purchase she had made at his store and that he had hired a dray to do it, sending the bill to her. In this he was considered entirely justified. Hitherto delivery of goods was made by any chance carrier who would go out of his way to get what was required to be brought home."—New York Sun.

A Matter of Tact.

Mr. Brown was in a bad temper, and, as Mrs. Brown knew, there was only one way of curing it—to rouse him thoroughly—for when miserable himself he always accused other people of being miserable. He did on this occasion.

"Jane," he grumped at last, "you're as dull as an old owl! Sulking, I suppose, because I refused to buy you that new hat."

"No," sighed his wife; "I wasn't thinking about it. As a matter of fact, I've been turning out some old letters, and—oh, it's nothing of importance, only a fit of the blues."

"What letters?"

"Love letters."

"Some I wrote to you, I suppose?"

"No," said his wife calmly, "some I received before I'd met you. It's of no consequence—none at all. How is your cold?"—Exchange.

Grattan's Study of Oratory.

Professor Howard Marsh has just told the story of a lodger who complained of the "lunatic" above him who walked the floor all night talking to himself. The "lunatic" was John Bright preparing his speeches, and one recalls how Grattan in like circumstances concerned his landlady. "It was a sad thing," she used to lament, "to hear her young lodger talking half the night to somebody he called 'Mr. Speaker,' when there was no speaker present but himself." Grattan's studies in the art of speaking, however, were not confined to the bedroom. He often walked in Windsor park addressing the oaks in parliamentary strain. And there is the story of the polite stranger who found him haranguing an empty gibbet. "However did you get down?" he asked.—St. James' Gazette

Primitive Breadmaking.

The Arabs adhere to those ancestral principles of breadmaking which have been sanctioned by the experience of ages. The very first baker of bread that ever lived must have done his work exactly as the Arab does at this day. He takes some meal and holds it out in the hollow of his hands while his comrade pours over it a few drops of water. He then mashes up the moistened flour into a paste, pulls the lump of dough so made into small pieces and thrusts them into the embers. His way of baking exactly resembles the craft or mystery of roasting chestnuts as practiced by children. There is the same prudence and circumspection in choosing a good berth for the morsel, the same enterprise and valor in pulling it out with the fingers.—Kinglake's "Eothen."

The Days of Doggarts.

There are probably people still living who remember when dogs drew carts in England. These original dog carts, which were suppressed by law in the middle of the last century, were largely used by costermongers and the humbler members of the fancy for Sunday outings. The dogs employed were large animals, of mongrel breed with a strain of the old English mastiff. A twenty or thirty mile run in and out was nothing to them, and they kept up their strength on the journey with a scanty allowance of bread soaked in beer.—London Mail.

A Talleyrand Retort.

The Duchess of Lauraguais, who was somewhat given to making poetry, could not think of a word to rime with coiffe. Turning to Talleyrand, who chanced to be by her side she said, "Prince, give me a rime to coiffe." "Impossible, duchess," replied Talleyrand without a moment's delay, "for that which pertains to the head of a woman has neither rime nor reason."

Clever Woman.

She—Don't you think a woman is clever enough to do any work that a man can? He—She's smarter than that. Why, she's clever enough to make the man do the work and give her the benefit of it.—London Telegraph.

Rightly Occupied.

When men are rightly occupied their amusement grows out of their work as the color petals out of a fruitful flower.—John Ruskin.

MRS. McGILL BROKE DOWN

Gives the Real Facts In Regard to Her Case and Tells How She Suffered.

Jonesboro, Ark.—"I suffered a complete break down in health, some time ago," writes Mrs. A. McGill, from this place. "I was very weak and could not do any work. I tried different remedies, but they did me no good.

One day, I got a bottle of Cardui. It did me so much good, I was surprised, and took some more.

Before I took Cardui, I had headache and backache, and sometimes I would cry for hours. Now I am over all that, and can do all kinds of housework. I think it is the greatest medicine on earth."

In the past fifty years, thousands of ladies have written, like Mrs. McGill, to tell of the benefit received from Cardui.

Such testimony, from earnest women, surely indicates the great value of this tonic remedy, for diseases peculiar to women. Are you a sufferer? Yes? Cardui is the medicine you need. We urge you to try it.
